Lady justice to administer Noynoy oath

'The honor is mine,' says Morales, first woman SC justice to swear in RP president

By Don Z. Puzos and Christine G. Ayon

SUPREME COURT ASSOCIATE JUSTICE CONCHITA CARPIO-MORALES has officially accepted President-elect Benigno "Noynoy" Aquino III's request that she swear him into office on June 30, in what could yet be the most high-profile snub of President Macapagal-Arroyo's "midnight appointee," Chief Justice Renato Corona.

Carpio Morales—who will hold the distinction of being the Philippines' first woman justice of the highest court in recent times—said Aquino is a five-paragraph letter sent to around 10 a.m. yesterday that she was accepting his "gracious invitation."

"As you enter on the occasion of your office, I wish that you make good use of your family's and our country's patrimony of integrity—the common heritage of moral courage and good judgment—which cannot be matched by any amount of official wealth can sustain you in the political road ahead," Carpio-Morales wrote Aquino.

"Please consider this as an acceptance of your gracious invitation. The honor is mine," she said.

Carpio-Morales had instructed her staff not to release to the media a copy of her letter. But the apparently did not.

ATTY. FRANK CHAVEZ CLARIFIES UNDATED ISSUE OF SMART FILE

We write on behalf of former Solicitor General Francisco I. Chavez, Founding Partner of the law firm of Chavez Miranda Asedoch Law Offices, pertaining to relative reports on the sudden proliferation of an undated issue of Smart File Animal Farm, Inc. (Smart File, for brevity), designated only as "Animal Farm Series 128 & 129" and first published some fifteen (15) years ago. Critical of Atty. Chavez's stint in the Office of the Solicitor General, the aforesaid issue is reportedly being circulated to various sections of government service and society.

Atty. Chavez is presently abroad and thus is unable to adequately present his side on the matter. However, just so that the public will not be misled by the contents of the aforesaid issue of Smart File, Atty. Chavez has communicated to us the following clarification:

"First, the initial publication of the undated issue of Smart File some fifteen years back was part of a smear campaign against Atty. Chavez. At about that time, when Atty. Chavez went back to private law practice, he successfully frustrated parties then being represented by the law firm of Villanaza and Angangco, otherwise referred to as 'The Firm,' from taking over control of Oriental Petroleum. At the time, Atty. Chavez was representing the group of Robert Coyula while 'The Firm' was representing the group of Alfredo Yuchengco. In that contest, Coyula's group prevailed and remained in control of Oriental Petroleum until its disposition to the group of John Gokongwei. The article was written by Ricardo Manapat reportedly a close associate of then presidential legal counsel Antonio Carpio and about the time a personal incident happened between Atty. Chavez and Atty. Carpio. Atty. Chavez sued Manapat for libel. Thereafter, Manapat died thus obviating the evil that he did to live after him."

"Second, all the defamatory matters set out in the said article have been sufficiently and exhaustively explained by Atty. Chavez as baseless and unfounded and the smear-up charges mentioned therein were all dismissed by then Tenetsbayan Raul Gonzales some 25 years ago."

"Third, the unexplained reprinting and mass circulation of the aforesaid issue of the Smart File could only be traced to parties who may have been offended by the recent ouster of Atty. Chavez on the matter of good governance."

This clarification is being made so that the public may be apprised of the true facts surrounding the matters treated in the said publication. In any event, when Atty. Chavez returns, he will attend to the matter personally.

Top RP doctors commit to become 'new Rizals'

THE GROUP OF TOP RIZAL, PHILIPPINE doctors have committed to be the "new Rizal" and commit to resolve and provide the examples set by Dr. Jose Rizal as well as keep the spirit and tenets of Rizal alive as they go beyond healing people into the next level and become catalysts for social change.

This was the sentiment arrived at by the country's top physicians and some medical associations on Wednesday in an unprecedented act of unity and commitment to go beyond their call of duty.

The so-called "new Rizal" movement was spearheaded by the Philippine Medical Association (PMA), the country's oldest and biggest medical association, headed by its president, Oscar Tio, Health Secretary Filipinas Cabral, the Philippine College of Physicians (PCP) leadership Eugene Ramos and various medical associations and practitioners in the country.

Selfless doctors

In a joint statement issued by the PMA and PCP through top cardiology leaders, Luchan, the government and various organizations of private physicians all over the country took the initiative to issue the June 13 Rizal Day declaration to which many groups that the country's medical doctors are willing and ready to help make the example and role.

"This is the most appropriate time to carry the legacy of the new Rizal which is to be of service to the nation," Tio said.

Ramos, for his part, said, "We decided to launch a 'new Rizal' movement because we believe that we can make a difference in the lives of Filipinos, especially the poor. Like Rizal, we should all make sacrifices and be selfless if we want to lead this nation."

Ramos stressed the medical profession's responsibility to address the domestic medical needs, such as training, research, government health, health of education, the delivery of services, and the quality of the health and welfare of the Filipino.

"In health care, the 'new Rizal' movement, a nationwide signature drive will be launched to work the commitment of medical practitioners nationwide. A number of their commitments will be enhanced. Cabral said that was stated in the entry developed by the medical community as the joint body in efforts to collectively give the national health reform agenda to improve the country's healthcare system.

Catalyst for change

Meanwhile, Luchan, a 2009 Physician of the Year award, said the "new Rizal" movement beyond the usual role as a healer—a humanitarian physician, health education, advocacy, change agent, is also for social change."

Stressing that being a doctor is a lifelong social commitment, Luchan said that the right to health is one of the fundamental rights enshrined in Article 11 of the 1987 Constitution. Since 15, especially doctors, that "the state shall protect and promote the right to health of the people and to adopt multi-sectoral approaches in addressing it."

Luchan also mentioned that the medical profession supports nothing less than the leadership, as it has been challenged Filipino doctors to achieve.

Dick adopted initial species as the default monitoring method in 2004, but leaders were still allowed to choose the nonconservation rating agent option because he was concerned about the loss of funding. He said his lawyers had pushed for the rating agent—but because he wanted to draw attention to his case or embarrass the state.

Some cheered the execution as barbaric, and others drew members of Clinton's family held a vigil outside the prison as he was shot. There were no protests at the prison.

The detainees were all certified police officers who volunteered for the trials and remain anonymous. They stood about 25 feet from Gadsden, behind a wall on each a passport, and were aimed with a stretched net of 30 and 15-caliber rifles. One was loaded with a bullet so no one knew who fired the fatal shot. Handcuffs shackled him, and Gadsden's chain kept his bullets from ricocheting around the chambered room.

Members of his family gathered outside the prison, some wearing T-shirts displaying his prison number, 14073. Some placed in various the crucifix, at Card's request.

"We didn't want nobody to see him get shot," said Walker's brother, Randy Cochran. "I would have liked to be there for him. I love him to death. He's my little brother."

Garland's interviewers agreed that, like just the moment when he died in 1995, there is something elusive that might have led them to "almost impose a life sentence for the man who described himself as a 'party little bugger.'" His life was marked by only drug addiction, physical and sexual abuse and possible brain damage, never events discussed.

The execution process was set in motion in March when the US Supreme Court rejected a request from Windsor's attorney to enjoin the case. On April 23, state court Judge Robin Rosen signed a warrant ordering the state to carry out the death sentence.

Voters' attitudes, as of May 2010

REUTERS, JUNE 18 As a POLLING station called "Learning Lessons, Consolidating Gains," based in Davao, the National School of Government, I reported on some 500 national voters on attitudes of Filipino voters. These polls indicate that the voters are much more aware and independent, selected those many points of commentators take them to be.

Tactical voting. This can be measured by asking many respondents whether they agree or disagree with the statement: "I will vote for the candidate I like best, even if he or she is not my first choice." (Agree/disagree, 5-point scale, 1 to 5, they allow for a neutral or no opinion for the 5-point of agreement or disagreement.)

This question was asked in April 2006, in February 2008, and most recently in the final 2010 pre-election survey of May 23, 2010. The percentage who agree, or the tactical voters, are 40 last May, 42 in April 2006, 47 last February and 45 last May. This may help explain why only few presidential candidates, and only three for the 2010 election, got double-digit numbers (1) across most national opinion polls in the election.

Consensus voting. In 11 survey years, 1994, 1998, 2001, 2004, 2006, 2008, 2009, 2010, 2011, 2012, 2013, 2014, 2015, 2016, 2017, 2018, 2019, 2020, 2021, 2022, 2023, 2024, 2025, 2026, 2027, 2028, ## HOTEL MURDER

Love angle eyed in killing

By Nina Gallo

HE WAS A GOOD-LOOKING badboy who reportedly dated many women.

The information led Metro police to focus on a love angle as the primary motive in the killing of Orenzo Banao last November. Banao was shot on Thursday morning.

According to employees of the Shangri-La Hotel where the 39-year-old badboy was killed, the victim was a hotel and beverage executive and always was entertaining different women in his hotel room. He was 300 pounds, muscular, had a reputation in the club, and was

No witness

Menor said that when he was told by a hotel employee around 7:45 a.m. on Thursday, a few minutes after he stepped out of his apartment. The hotel employee was unable to give the building's CCTV camera footage of the shooting on 7:30 a.m.

Police never alerted when someone from a nearby bakery shop heard a loud shot and saw Banao fall in the presence of the owner of the hotel and Orenzo Banao. "We were heard the shot because the gun fired in the shooting area," 22-year-old police, resident of a 4th floor," Menor said. Banao's initial thought the victim had suffered a heart attack and fell to his death, he added.

Onlookers saw a man wearing a ball cap and black jacket walk away from the victim and later dropping down a taxi, but they failed to see close to their location.

Police kept the victim's body in the police car, and the attack could be a hit or a hit for the murder the victim was shot.

Party lover

Based on our interview, Menor was a party lover and had a lot of women. One thing is for sure, the person or the one who shot the victim had a grudge against him. It was obviously personal," he added.

"After thinking it was just a heart attack, we were not taking any other possibility. One thing is for sure, the person or the one who shot the victim had a grudge against him. It was obviously personal," he added.

Police also mentioned an administrative complaint against Banao against the victim at the Tourism Commission Department of Tourism. A man had allegedly complained that Banao was using his position, a director of the hotel.

"We are still here to study these cases from the Tourism Commission," Menor said.

Banao said police are still gathering information about the victim that could provide some insight. "We're still talking to his friends. They might be able to tell us if Banao had any enemies or anyone who would want to harm him," he said.

Banao added that relatives of the victim, who started working for the hotel in May 2009, especially on the island in the southern part of the island, 300,000, 000, 000

BOP surplus in 1st 5 months hit $2.733B

RP seen on track to meet full year target of $3.7B

By Nicholas V. Reyes

INFLUX OF DOLLARS AND OTHER NON-PESO CURRENCIES exceeded outflows in May, further building up the country's wealth of foreign exchange.

The Philippine's balance of payments (BOP) hit a surplus of $280 million in May, a stark increase from the $40 million posted in the same month last year, the Bureau of Economic Analysis reported yesterday.

The surplus in May brought the BOP total for the first five months of the year to $2.733 billion, rising from $2.08 billion in the same period a year ago.

Monetary officials said last month's push, while deficit occurred from foreign conditions, and expects to offset continued expenditure with other countries.

Earlier this month, the annual trade account hit a historic high of $2.7 billion. Foreign currency inflows include re-exports from workers abroad, export earnings, investments and goods from abroad in foreign currencies, and investments by foreigners in the Philippines.

Outflow comes in the form of import and debt payments, and investments of Filipinos in businesses or businesses off shore.

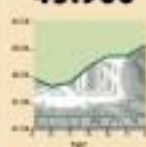

According to BOP, Commerce Secretary Benjamin Al, the BOP surplus in May was

Senior citizens' VAT relief takes effect

By Pascual M. Domingo

BIR seeks comments on draft regulations

SENIOR CITIZENS MAY NOW ENJOY relief from paying the value-added tax, depending on the establishment they are transacting with, after the implementing rules and regulations (IRR) of the law granting them exemption was filed yesterday.

Revenue Commissioner Joel L. Tiu-Tiu said that while the Department of Social Welfare and Development formulated the rules, the Bureau of Internal Revenue is tasked to come up with detailed guidelines on implementing the VAT exemption.

"Some suppliers of goods and services may now be honoring the provision of the new law but others may choose to wait until we have issued the guidelines through a revenue regulation circular," Tiu-Tiu said.

"We will ensure our staff are clear on the rules and this will be open for comment from the public," he added.

The IRR also outlined the list of services of the detailed rules may be ready as quickly as a week after the draft's publication, especially if there are no objections from the public.

"The newly established rules can leave the elderly VAT exempt immediately since the BIR has been signed," Tiu-Tiu said.

Since President Arroyo signed the Expanded Senior Citizens Act in February, the Bureau of Internal Revenue had to clarify that VAT exemption for the elderly cannot be applied until the BIR was allowed.

Signed last Feb. 26, the new law states that elderly is eligible for the 35 percent discount on purchases of consumer goods and services provided for under the older law that took effect in 2005.

The BIR last night President Arroyo to issue the VAT exemption for the elderly and proposed that the discount be limited to 10 percent.

Finance officials said such exemptions would prevent a legislative nightmare for the BIR which is already doing its utmost to implement existing tax measures.

The Department of Finance had approved the provision of the law when it was filed, leaving additional work to Congress.

However, the DOF had been unwilling to increase senior citizens' discount on purchases to 35 percent of the billable amount, instead of 10% exemption.

According to DOF, the country's treasury stands to lose P1.6M billion in tax collection in a year when the law is implemented.

E-money users hit 8-M mark

By Michelle V. Bana

THE NUMBER OF EDUCATED "E-MONEY" users in this country has already hit the 8 million mark as of early 2010, with the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas crediting this to the popularity of mobile phones among Filipinos.

According to a report presented by BSP Deputy Governor Nemesio Espallilla Jr., the estimated 8 million users of Union Bank and G-Cash in the Philippines is a welcome development for the BIR which aims to promote cashless monetary transactions.

Union Bank and G-Cash are the electronic payment providers of mobile phone giant Smart Communications Inc. and Globe Telecom Inc., respectively.

However, is the monetary value tucked in such e-wallets or Internet accounts. A person may manage to transact—made in payments, purchase merchandise and send or receive remittances—using the stored monetary value.

Especially with mobile phones, more Internet users are making an e-wallet account at transaction using a smart phone has large number of people in the Philippines using mobile devices. According to estimates, 75 percent of the country's estimated 80 million people own mobile phones. On the other hand, only 5 percent of the population have access to the Internet, according to some conservative estimates.

The central bank official said the use of mobile phones for making an e-wallet account is encouraged because the cost is lower than traditional means of transacting such as through money transfer agents.

The Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas credit transfer via a mobile phone is at 7 percent, far cheaper than traditional way of doing transactions.

Mobile phone banking is encouraged by the DOF because it makes financial transactions more accessible for people to remote areas where bank branches are nonexistent.

"Technology enables access of financial assets and banking services to a large number of households, but technology, especially those in rural and hard-to-reach areas of brown and higher efficiency," Espallilla said in the report, which he presented last night during the inauguration of the new BSP Innovation Research Program.

ALI ramps up Ayala Center redevelopment

AYALA LAND INC. TOOK ANOTHER STEP forward in the redevelopment of the Ayala Center, at the heart of the Makati Central Business District, recently putting its first batch of concrete how what will soon be a commercial use for office buildings.

The Ayala Center redevelopment will transform Makati's premier shopping hub into a world-class mixed-use development that will cater to the needs of urban dwellers. It will feature an integrated community mall, office shopping, lifestyle and entertainment areas, office developments, residential condominiums, and hotels while enhancing traffic and pedestrian mobility through efficient use of open spaces.

ALI president and CEO Antonio Aguino said the planned redevelopment of Ayala Center is in line with the company's overall growth and sustainability strategy.

"What we expect to do in the coming years is to improve efficiency in the same direction as our customers," Aguino said. "The plan for Ayala Center was born out of a in-depth and careful study on what our customers need, want, and choose about. It's truly about providing people with an integrated living, working and shopping experience," he said.

In the hardware side, the redevelopment will introduce a new concept through the new Glorietta. It will showcase the best retail and merchandise and offer sophisticated shopping, dining, and entertainment experiences that will attract Ayala Center as a key destination in the metropolis.

Faces of the World Cup

THE PHILIPPINES MAY SEEM LEFT out in a football-crazy world...but it's not too late to appreciate the World Cup. Different countries, different colors, all come for one purpose—to enjoy the "beautiful game." Don't you just wish we could join the party?

Why can't we join the party?

It's the beautiful game

By Sam Carlo Sanchez
and Jay Lim

IS IT SOCCER OR FOOTBALL?

Some people are still confused; they don't quite know what to call it. But one thing is sure: They call it the "beautiful game."

And it's considered the most popular sport in the world (sorry, basketball and basketball).

No other global event can make the world stand still the way the World Cup can—we are across the Olympics. Football is perhaps the only sport where one can experience the surge of intense emotion.

For a basketball-loving country such as ours, football is a little getting used to. For one, it's harder to handle the ball—using your feet instead of your hands. For another, the scoring is less—there's more dribbling, the game is...

We asked these young football enthusiasts why the Philippines should jump on the football world bandwagon, and which team they are rooting for.

Paulo Domingo, 17, De La Salle University
We Filipinos are not tall. I can't believe why we try to play basketball, and why I had been the favorite sport over the years when it is not really a tall person's game.

Philippines can excel in football since football players don't really have to be tall. I've seen a lot of short football players who are really good and really fast, as well.

If we embrace football, we can excel in this sport. Perhaps one day we can be in the World Cup. Football is the way to go.

Ben Francisco, 17, College of Saint Benedict
Soccer is the world's most famous sport, and if Filipinos comprehended this sport, there is a big opportunity for us to be recognized around the world. This is our great entry for us Filipinos to showcase our talent and discipline around the world.

football, with their jumping ability and extreme athleticism, the Filipinos' quick feet, tenacity, ability to run, are perfect for football.

It's a common old joy in that sense as well. In light, during the financial crisis, spending on football is down, so it's not a bad idea, as this was the perfect way of spending their money.

That speaks volumes of the power of football to move people and move more than just a form of entertainment.

The sport will also help us overcome our social stigma. It's a great way to overcome our social stigma. It's a great way to overcome our social stigma. It's a great way to overcome our social stigma.

Second chances

By Robert M. Butler

WE WERE HAPPY TO CHECK A mid-night screening of Gary Winder's Tulley to Keller in a way that would make us feel good. The movie provided a formulaic albeit somewhat perfect blueprint from that earlier year's best and certainly volume-filled set.

When American Goshawk Hall (American Goshawk) took an unannounced interest in John—written some 50 years ago by Virginia-born Clara Smith (Vernon Richards) to her estranged Italian lover, Lorenzo Dumalis (Francis Ford)—during a visit to photographer Harris, she goes on a quest to restore the rare original.

In Sophie's delight, Clara—with her cynical stepmother, Charlie Hyman (Christopher Lloyd), in tow—flies to the Italian island to spotcheck on the house, but soon runs the local ink hehden... and is tied closer to an unfinished chapter in her life. But, there will be some place like a long where they realize there are many Lorraine Hansbreds in the vicinity—in fact, there are 73 of them! (Hansbreds?)

Author's Note

Finding Clavin's Laurens is just one of Angie's problems. She feels neglected in her otherwise idyllic family, that Nicole (Paula Garcia) herself, who seems to share her's passion for his brother than for his father with. Complications mount when Angie and Clavin realize there's more to their cousin's fight and verbal spurs than money; the sex—there's attraction to each other?

True, which's cool-cool doesn't win points for originality at thematic insight. But there's something satisfying—and comforting—about the production's light and breezy romantic cadences that implicitly confirms viewers that, indeed, Love Is the Answer is just what the doctor ordered.

But, the young couple's dramatic visibility and chemistry are as much for the quiet grace and tasteful glamour of the lovely Mr. Macgregor, whose stellar status is higher than ever—and the reason is really the lovely collaboration and intimate reconnection of a woman who boldly enters second chance, as love

'I'll Be There'

The protagonists of Marx's J. Edgar know "The Boss" was also haunted by dark past. John Anderson's "production" accident while performing is not timber that I intended to let cross better than originally planned is a prime example, of course, but is by no means the only unplanned exposure of a star's possibly hidden Jeff's son, brother Michael, had an unfortunate malfunction of his car, but it involved a hot light that set his hair possibly on fire during a commercial shoot.

Medical number
 "Gotta be thankful for a few good friends. I'm not a celebrity, but I also experienced a wonderful satisfaction many years ago when I was performing a medical number in a 60" production of Glory and Faith," declared the actor.

I was cast in the role that Frank Gage, who played the musical's film version, said I was singing and dancing with great zest and abandon...and I felt everything up in my mother's region. That's right, my pants had given up the ghost due to my exuberant protest.

Before the work even finished something was wrong. I leaned to the right of the traps and barely caught—to make the flow guy within reach. "Give me your hands!"

The cover guy had no say in the matter, but once this was a final production, and he was a musician, he was the chief editor. He did not understand. Lindbergh has made his way through these things before—no, in only a few seconds. I wrote book coverage and continued with the number, as he wrote them.

Oh, perhaps somebody in the numbers considered why I had visited wanting. Brown said and showed back in wearing his trousers, but he probably thought his eyes were playing tricks on him!

Building up
Instructed to wear 120 grams, I had strict instructions to rebound with the bike myself, getting dehydrated—and parts of a ball head even ending up deep in my throat as I frantically inhaled a long therapeutic cold-water breath.

Thankfully, I received that verdict as well with my good health and happy disposition intact, and Old Bill wished his approval from the wings.

Most memorable interviews recalled

By Nestor U. Sene

IN THE COURSE OF OUR POSTING and radio-TV program hosting careers, we've had the pleasure—and pressure—of interviewing literally hundreds of stellar personalities, both here and abroad. At a recent media forum, we were asked to recall some of our most memorable interactions with the host and brightest, and there were a few that came readily to mind.

Very definitely, our all-day “in-process” session with iconic Filip-

Latest installment of Pixar's animated franchise lives up to expectations

By Hank Stryker

HAS PIXAR MANAGED to do it again? Does "Toy Story 3" live up to the lofty expectations that its predecessors have striven to? Should you park up the kids and head to the nearest Cinema 40 to watch? The answer is yes to all questions.

Released 11 years after "Toy Story 2," the animated franchise's latest installment is the legendary studio's 11th full-length feature. Here, Pixar actually reveals the fate of more beloved objects by asking in what it does best—a cartoonish, whimsical and a well-told tale.

Swinging on

The release of "Toy Story 3" in 1995 launched an exciting new era for animated movies, and Pixar has been at the forefront of it all since. With "Toy Story 3," they show how far they've come, technologically, and to the film's darker shadings and more poignant moments, especially in the final scenes—yes, it's that they have done quite a bit of growing up.
